Tiles of Stow

Tiles of Stow

Welcome to the new Tiles of Stow brochure.

This publication will mark our twentieth anniversary. Twenty years ago we were new to the world of tiles and excited by everything we sold. Time has not diminished our enthusiasm and we still relish the arrival of new designs and tiles. Of course we now have the benefit of a wealth of experience and knowledge to draw on - which you can take advantage of!

In 1988, our hand made and painted tiles were the sole focus of our design skills. With the growth of the wall tile market has come a greater emphasis on a variety of materials such as stone, glass, mosaic and a huge range of porcelains and ceramics. Now a lot of our time is spent being creative in interior design putting the many beautiful products together in endless combinations.

However our own unique tiles remain as popular as ever. The Impressions range has become classic over the years and our hand painted tiles are always in demand. We hope you enjoy the selection of tiles shown in this brochure, and we look forward to sharing our enthusiasm with you.

When you visit Tiles of Stow, not only can you see the tiles in our showroom, but you can also take the opportunity to look around the workshops and see how our tiles are made.

We are situated in the heart of the Cotswolds between the old market towns of Stow on the Wold and Chipping Norton and near the pretty villages of Kingham and Bledington. With excellent local pubs and hotels, it's the perfect excuse for a great day out in the country. We look forward to seeing you soon!

Sebastian John & Odette Wells

Tiles of Stow is truly a traditional family business.

We started making tiles soon after we were married as a way to expand our passion for painting and sculpture. We found that tiles were a perfect medium to introduce art and creativity into the home. And we have the bonus of knowing that our art is being enjoyed by literally thousands of people up and down the country - in their own homes!

Residence Collection

Beautifully hand crafted tiles in subtle tones characterise this recent addition to the Winchester collection. There are three distinct styles – Metropolitan iridescent lustres, Arcadian crackle effect and Cosmopolitan high gloss. The colour and finishes have been carefully chosen to work in a variety of today's interiors.

The gentle pearly lustres shimmer and create a delightful muted backdrop to modern or traditional rooms. The crackle finish tiles have a classic antique quality ideally suited to shabby chic styling. The Cosmopolitan tiles are characterised by a diverse mix of rich transparent colours that will create an impact in any room of the house.

Impressions Fruits de Mer Fossil on white

Impressions

Provencal Impressions drying, before being "biscuit" fired

From drying to firing to final glazing, Impressions are tiles borne out of years of traditional English craftsmanship and design.

We have been making the Impressions range for nearly 20 years, and it has proved to be a tile that can truly be called an "English Classic". Glazed in white or cream, they remain one of the simplest, yet most appealing of all our designs, creating a style and simplicity which is the ideal foil to any interior scheme.

Each of our Impressions relief ware starts life as an individually hand sculpted tile from which master moulds are taken. From these masters, pressing moulds are made into which terracotta clay is hand pressed to make each tile. After "biscuit" firing, each tile is hand dipped with a generous coat of glaze, and then re-fired to over 1050°C.

Some of the processes involved in making the Impressions range

Murals

Cotswold Country Scene - page 45

Our murals are hand painted using a technique that dates back to 13th century Chinese porcelain. You choose the base tile, onto which we paint your mural using special glazes. The tiles are then fired to over 800°C, melting all the glazes together to form a permanent surface which will last as long as the tile itself. Our tiles are heat and detergent resistant, and so consequently, your choice of tiles, unique in design, will give years of pleasure.

As always, if you cannot visit us, you can order your mural by phone, email, fax or post. Just send us your measurements and any pictorial information applicable. Leave us to do the rest!

Hand decorating our tile murals - each one is unique

Still as popular as when we began making tiles, the hand painted tile mural is the classic choice for a stunning focal point. Over the years, we have been asked to paint numerous subjects - some more unusual than others - and all have been created with painstaking care and lots of enthusiasm. Our murals are in homes around the world as far afield as Australia and America.

Every panel we produce is individually decorated and is certainly not an "off the shelf" product. This means that your mural will be painted to fit exactly into the space you want tiled. You can choose from the murals on the following pages, which we can adapt and change to suit your requirements.

Alternatively, commission us to paint a subject close to your heart; a landscape, animals, pets or particular flowers that are special to you. Any subject is possible!

The composition can be adapted to suit all different settings; if you haven't the room, you could have just one or two of the ducks. Or they could be placed in different parts of the kitchen. Choose any of our base tiles to suit your needs from page 61.

The sturdy stance and yet gentle look of the Herefordshire breed seems to account for their popularity as a theme for a mural. Hand painted with loving care - a beautiful example of the detail that can be achieved.

Special Commissions

Inspired by frescos from Pompeii and renaissance paintings, the owner of this mural commissioned us to create a highly individual Trompe L'oeil scene

A fresco effect was required, so the rustic nature of the Rapolano Natural was ideal for the base tile

We hope that these pages of murals and panels have whetted your appetite. If, however, you haven't found exactly what you are looking for, then why not ask us to paint something special for you?

As you can see from the following pages, the subject matter is unlimited - and we have created some very individual tile murals over the last 20 years!

It is always useful when giving us your ideas to have some visual information that we can work from. Any photos and drawings that you can send will enable us to get as close as possible to your dream mural. Don't forget, we are always at the end of the phone to answer any questions you might have.

Special Commissions - Swimming Pools

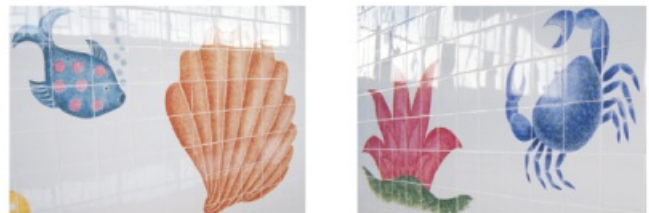

Lively mural for a public swimming pool in Bristol

One of four large panels for a public pool in Bristol

The revitalising of this public swimming pool in Bristol was a wonderful challenge. The previous decor had been very drab and uninspiring and in need of serious updating. We wanted to create a design which would be lively and appeal to all the age ranges that regularly used the pool. The children especially enjoy the fact that the friendly fishes tower above their heads!

Warm, vibrant colours suited the bold sea creatures

The scale of these panels create an enormous impact from every angle

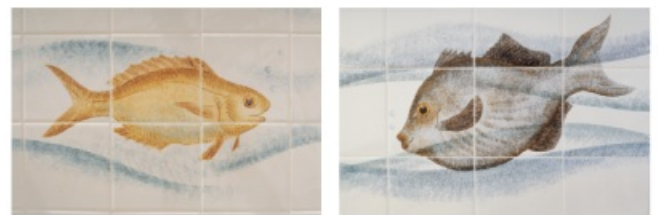

The main composition of this project included three dancing dolphins making their way across the pool walls

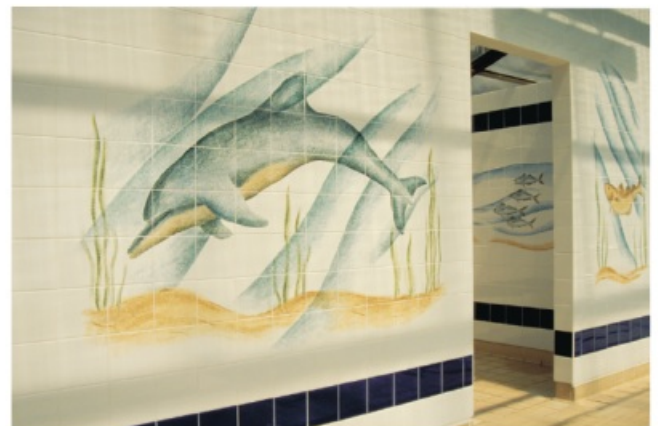

Each changing room included small panels of swimming fish

We were commissioned to create an under sea environment for a children's therapy pool in Exeter. We decided to choose for the theme of the project marine creatures common to the waters of the British Isles. The abundance of dolphins off the south west coast gave us a good reason to include three in the main composition!

Attention to detail was particularly important

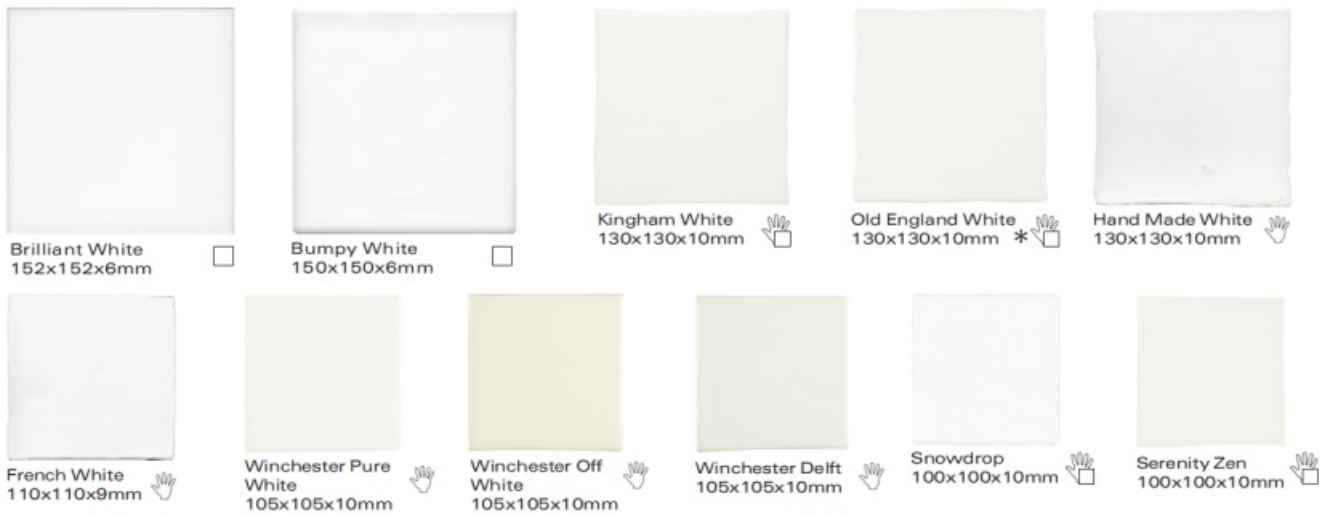

Tranquil colours helped to provide a calming atmosphere

Plain Cream and White Base Tiles

Shown here are the plain tiles onto which we decorate and fire our designs. There is a mixture of machine made and hand made tiles to choose from. We have selected them not only because they are great looking tiles, but also for their excellent colour response to our glazes and for their durability and lasting brilliance.

Designing your Mural

Finishing touches to a drawing for a special commission

When you have chosen the subject for your mural, send us all the dimensions of the area to be tiled. This includes, where necessary, cooker dimensions and any other measurements you might think applicable.

Choose a base tile that you think will be suitable. We will send you samples so you can verify your choice.

We can then prepare a quotation for your approval. When you are happy to proceed, we will provide a scale drawing showing the composition of your proposed mural. This is a combination of a CAD drawing together with a hand drawn representation of your mural. The computer elevation will show the placement of the tiles, while the drawing of the subject will provide a good idea of how the mural will look. Most of our stock murals are shown as a black and white line drawing. For special commissions, we usually provide a full colour drawing. After any alterations you may require, we will proceed with painting and firing your mural.

Your finished mural will arrive numbered accompanied with a plan and instructions. Always use a qualified tiler to install your work of art!
